

Tank Care Buddy

Session 11B — Logo Mark SVG Fix

June 11, 2026

Followed up the logo badge removal (Session 11A) after a user screenshot showed the rectangular fish tank border from the PNG art was still visible as a corner bracket in the header. Switched both the app and website from PNG image files to an inline SVG fish mark that inherits the parent text color automatically — no corner lines, no background, and no separate dark/light PNG versions needed.

Logo mark: switch to inline SVG fish, remove tank-border artifact

Commit: b6e4d63

- Replaced the logo-mark-dark.png image tag in index.html with an inline SVG fish icon (same paths as the 'Browse species' button icon).
- The SVG uses stroke=currentColor so it automatically takes the color of the header text — teal/cyan on dark themes, dark ink on light themes. No CSS theme-swap rules needed.
- The rectangular tank border that appeared as a corner bracket artifact is completely gone — the SVG is just the fish body and tail.
- Sized to 17×17px to match the cap-height of the 18px Plus Jakarta Sans 800 title text.
- Fixed app.js setTitleText() which still pointed to apple-touch-icon.png — updated to inject the same inline SVG.
- Removed old CSS rules: border-radius, box-shadow, content-swap for dark skin.
- Files changed: index.html, app.js, styles.css. Version bump: v=20260611b.

Logo mark: switch to inline SVG fish, remove tank-border artifact

Commit: cfc3764

- shared.js: replaced the logo-mark-dark.png image tag with an inline SVG fish icon in both the header and footer logo lockup.
- The SVG inherits the link color in both light and dark themes — no separate PNG files or CSS overrides required.
- style.css: removed border-radius, box-shadow, and the content-swap dark-theme rules from .site-logo-mark.
- Sized to 15×15px to match the cap-height of the --text-sm (14–16px) logo text.
